Communities at Dimensional

For more than 20 years, the Dimensional Communities programme has brought together clients with common interests, business models, roles and focus areas to support one another in growing their businesses and advancing the way they serve clients. Our Communities include:

Principal Study Groups	Individuals seeking to learn from and network with like-minded peers around investments, human capital, client service and operational strategy. Study Groups are formed from representatives of like-minded firms who wish to get together regularly and share their goals, challenges, ideas and expertise to advance the experience for their clients, team members and firms (e.g., Emerging Industry Leaders, Regional Study Groups, Greenhouse Study Group).
Executive Forums	C-suite executives (e.g., CIO, COO). Executive Forums help individuals from firms with common roles and functions to collaborate on their specific work and challenges in a focused, private environment (e.g., Adviser CIO and COO Study Groups).
Emerging Talent	Next-generation visionary leaders at growth-oriented firms. Emerging Talent groups work to introduce and advance next-generation visionary leaders at growth-oriented firms (e.g., Rising Adviser Study Group).
Women & Wealth	Advisers providing women with a better client and investment experience. The Women & Wealth Community is built of like-minded advisers and other financial professionals who serve female investors. The goal is to provide more women with a better investment experience. View Brochure
Advisory Councils	Industry thought leaders who offer feedback to help inform Dimensional strategy. Advisory Councils assemble industry thought leaders in specific areas of focus to help further thinking and action, and to help ensure Dimensional's approach is always meeting direct client needs (e.g., Sustainability Council).

As of November 2026.
